

CHM 405 : Advanced Laboratory Methods - Inorganic Chemistry

This course employs a variety of advanced methods in the synthesis and characterization of inorganic systems and the investigation of inorganic reactions. These methods include spectroscopic and electrochemical measurements as well as manipulations under vacuum and with controlled atmospheres.

Credits 1

Prerequisites

CHM-202

Corequisites

CHM-404