

ISD 210 : Materials for Interior + Spatial Applications

This course allows students to learn about materials as a means of expression for the built environment. Exploration and examination for the functionality and aesthetic properties of specific materials and finishes for application will be explored.

Credits 3