

ECO 202: Principles of Microeconomics

This is a survey of economics of price determination (supply and demand), theory of firm and competitive market structures, consumer and business decision-making, and government regulation of economic activity of government.

Credits: 3

Program: Economics