

PSY 317 : Motivation

In this course an investigation of the biological, psychological, and social components of motivation and emotion in both classical and contemporary theories is undertaken. An attempt is made to understand why behavior occurs at all and why one behavior is selected over another.

Credits 3

Prerequisites

PSY 101